Mrs. Morsman, Old Resident of Omaha, Dies After Illness

Mrs. Frances A. Morsman, wife of E.
M. Morsman, and a prominent resident of Omaha for many years, died yesterday at 9 o'clock after a long illness. She was well known and highly respected as having been identified with church and missionary work and the charitable and social life of the city and was an active member of the First Presbyterian church, the Douglas Auditorium, the women will headquarters. The gathering will bring

Uses Hatchet to Subdue Negro He Finds On Property

S. B. McVaine, 1024 North Fortieth street, of the Harrison-Morton Real Estate company, visited one of the firm's houses in the north part of the city and discovered James Berry, colored, of Little Rock, Ark., an occupant of the place.
McVaine, armed with a hatchet, forced the negro to descend from the second story and accompany him about the building, when it was discovered that the fixtures had been carried off and a quantity of lead pipe cut in preparation for hauling.

The real estate man held Berry for the police, and the latter was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. He told the judge that he was hired to clean the house and knew nothing of the fixture theft.

Farmer Comes Long Way to See Sunday

People are coming in from various parts of the state to get a look at "Billy" Sunday and "Ma" Sunday.
In this connection City Commissioner Kugel received a telephone call Thursday from a former Omaha friend, who is now engaged in farming in the northern part of the state.

"Well, is this you, John?" asked Mr.
Kugel, when he had recognized the voice over the telephone. "What brings you down here?" he queried.

"Oh, the old woman would not give me any rest until I brought her down to Omaha to see 'Billy' Sunday and so I thought I would let her have a look at the evangelist. It's costing me about twenty-five bucks, but guess she can stand it," explained the farmer friend.

GOV. HERRICK HERE FOR A SHORT TIME

Former Ambassador to France When War Broke Out Talks on His Way to Coast.

MAY RETURN THIS WINTER

Ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio was in Omaha Friday for a half hour, on his way to the Pacific coast. He was met at the train by Mr. Harry S. Byrne, president of the McKinley club, to whom he accorded an interview in his compartment, although not yet dressed for breakfast.

Governor Herrick retired a short time ago as ambassador to France, and was very much in the public eye because of his successful efforts to aid Americans in distress caught in France at the outbreak of the war.

Governor Herrick has also been prominently mentioned for the republican nomination for president, and the Mc-Kinley club is anxious to have him come here to speak, but on account of previous arrangement he expressed regrets that he would be unable to stop off now. He remembered with considerable pleasure his last trip here, while he was governor of Ohio, and asked to be remembered to Victor Rosewater of The Bee, Senator Millard, Luther Drake and other friends here, and sent his greetings to the Ohio society through Franklin A. Shotwell, its president.

Friends Are Leaving Him.
Questioned as to the presidential nomination, Governor Herrick modestly insisted that he had no such ambitions, but admitted that his friends have been corresponding with him on that subject.

On his present trip he will go north from San Francisco, stopping at Seattle and Portland, and will deliver addresses before various organizations on irrigation and rural credits, a subject to which he has devoted considerable attention, and has written a book entitled "Rural Credits," just published.
It is likely that Governor Herrick will come here sometime during the winter to speak before the McKinley club, but he could not state a definite time.

Thought Omaha Bad Town So He Bought Gun for Protection

George Perkins, colored, of Elkhorn, Neb., was arrested at Eleventh and Davenport streets Thursday night while packing a heavy piece of artillery. He was brought before Judge Foster and fined $50 and costs.

When arrested Perkins asserted that he had heard that Omaha was having so many robberies of late that he was carrying the revolver for protection.

The arresting officers are of the opinion that further inquiry into the man's past activities will warrant a complete investigation. He will be closely interviewed by Chief Malone, as will Charles Williams, colored, living at 2117 North Seventeenth street. Williams was arrested at Twenty-fourth and Burdette streets by Officer Cunningham, who is confident that Williams may be able to divulge facts interesting to the department.
